

The Rev. Kenneth Malcolm

The Reverend Ken Malcolm is the Head Chaplain at Trinity Episcopal School in Austin, Texas. He leads a chapel program rich in interfaith dialogue, with regular guests from other faith communities, affirming the important commonalities between different religious traditions. In addition, he serves as the Director of Horizons, a non-profit working with marginalized students and families. He also serves as a mentor to students at the Seminary of the Southwest.

Before being called to Trinity, Ken served as the Canon for Evangelism, Formation, and Leadership in the Diocese of Colorado where he focused on leadership development, strategic planning, and conflict resolution. As an instructor for the Church Development Institute, he coached leaders on best practices, strategic decision-making, and conflict resolution. Previous calls included St. David's in Austin, St. Mark's, Durango CO., and the Bishop's staff in the Diocese of Virginia. Ken is married to Beth Pfautz Malcolm and they have two teenage sons, Douglas and Peter.
