Before Voting

Where do I go to vote?

Some towns have multiple polling places. To find out where you vote:

- Call your Town or City Clerk's office
- Go to: www.maine.gov/portal/government/edemocracy/voter_lookup.php

What time do I vote?

- Polling places open in the morning; opening time varies by town.
- The polling places all close at 8:00 PM.
- If you are in line to vote at 8:00 PM, you will not be turned away and will be able to vote.

How can I avoid the crowds at my voting place?

- COVID safety precautions may slow down the voting process.
- Because people will be physically distancing in line, lines may look long even if they are not.
- You can reduce stress at your polling place on Election Day by voting absentee.
- For more information on absentee voting, see PAGE 16.

What safety precautions are towns taking to make in-person voting as safe as possible?

- Limits on how many people can be in each polling location at a time.
- Voting booths positioned farther apart to allow for distancing.
- Cleaning and disinfecting surfaces between voters.
- Asking voters to wear face coverings.
- Plexiglass shields protecting election workers.

Can I see the ballot before the election?

Yes, your town or city will have a sample ballot. Check their website.

Before Voting

What if my name is not on the list at my voting place?

- The people working at the voting place will help you.
- You may need to register to vote. You may register to vote at the polling place. You must bring identification and something that shows a current address. A driver's license or state identification with the current address meets both criteria. Otherwise, a checkbook or bill addressed to you at your current address along with a social security card, birth certificate, or hunting/fishing license.
- If your problem is not solved, you can ask to vote a "challenged ballot." Your vote will count on Election Day. Your problem will be solved later.

Do I need an ID (identification card)?

No. Registered Maine voters do not need to show ID to vote.

BUT, you should bring your ID and proof of your address (example is a driver's license and electric bill) if:

- You are a first-time voter.
- You have moved.
- You need to register to vote on Election Day.

Don't worry — no eligible voter can be turned away.

At the Voting Place

What will I do at the voting place?

- Look for signs or markings to tell you where you should go.
- Floor markings are common to help people figure this out.
- Some polling places will sort people by last name.
- Most will have separate entrances and exits.
- Go to the election clerk. Give your name and address.
- If you are registered to vote, your name will be on the list.
- The election clerk will give you a ballot or ballots.
- A ballot is the paper where you will mark your votes.
- You will go into a private voting booth and mark your ballot.
- When you are done, you will put the ballot into the ballot box or a machine.

What if I need help at the voting place?

Ask an election clerk for help if you have any questions. Election clerks can help you fill out a ballot and give you a new one if you need it. You will not be the only one with questions!

How do I fill out the ballot?

- Each ballot tells you how to mark your choices.
- You will be using Ranked Choice Voting for some candidate elections. You can rank as many candidates as you wish or you can rank only one.
- If you have a question, ask an election clerk.
- You do not have to vote for everything. Only the parts you vote on will count.
- Check your ballot.
- If you have made a mistake, you can ask for a new ballot.

At the Polling Place

What if I can't read the ballot?

You can get help from:

- A friend or a relative. Your helper does not have to be a voter. Your helper does not have to be old enough to vote.
- An election worker.
- Your employer or union official cannot help you vote.
- A special machine is available if you want to see a large print ballot or hear a ballot read to you. (More information about this is on PAGE 11.)

ExpressVote System

What is ExpressVote?

ExpressVote is for people who may have difficulty reading a ballot. It is a device that can be used to help you read or hear your ballot and fill it out.

Can I use ExpressVote at my polling place?

- Yes, you can use ExpressVote at any voting place.
- Tell the election clerk at your voting place you want to use ExpressVote.
- The election clerk will set up the ExpressVote for you to use.

How does ExpressVote work?

- ExpressVote has a video display screen and built-in ballot printer.
- The ballot can be seen in large print.
- The ballot can be read to you through headphones that are provided.

How do I make my selections with ExpressVote?

You can make your selections by:

- Touching the screen.
- Using a keypad with different-shaped, colored buttons with braille labels.
- Using a switch with a green Yes or a red No.
- When you are done the device prints a ballot marked with your choices.
- You put your ballot into the ballot box or counting machine.

ExpressVote System

LEFT: This is what an ExpressVote system looks like. These are available at any voting place. Headphones should be available.

For more information on the ExpressVote system visit:

www.maine.gov/sos/cec/elec/voter-info/accessiblevoting.html

Ranked Choice Voting

What is Ranked Choice Voting?

Ranked Choice Voting lets voters rank the candidates in order of preference.

How does Ranked Choice Voting work?

- Voters rank candidates in the order of their preference: first choice, second choice, third choice, and so on.
- When all the ballots are counted, if one candidate gets more than 50% of the first choice votes, they win.
- If no candidate receives more than 50% of first choice votes, the candidate with fewest votes is considered defeated.
- Voters who ranked the defeated candidate as their first choice have their votes counted for their second choice.
- This is repeated until only two candidates remain. The one with the most votes wins.

Why should I rank my vote?

- If your first choice is defeated, your ballot will still count for your next highest choice.
- You can't hurt your favorite candidate by also ranking the other candidates. Those choices only count if your first choice is defeated.
- You can't help your favorite candidate by ranking only one candidate. Your first choice will always count if your favorite candidate has not been defeated.

How do I avoid mistakes on my ballot?

- Mark only one oval per row.
- Mark only one oval per column.
- Rank as many candidates as you like.
- You do not need to rank any candidate that you do not support.
- If you make a mistake, ask the clerk for a new ballot.
- Ask for help. You won't be the only one with questions.

Ranked Choice Voting

Here is an example of how to rank your preferred candidates:

	1st Choice	2nd Choice	3rd Choice
 Candidate One	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
 Candidate Two	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
 Candidate Three	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>

ABOVE: In this example, Candidate Two is the 1st choice, and the bubble next to this has been filled in. Candidate One is the 2nd Choice. Candidate Three is the 3rd Choice.

If you are certain of your top choice and only want to vote for Candidate Two, then you only have to fill in the "1st Choice" bubble. You may leave the rest blank.

If you only wanted to rank 2 out of the 3 candidates, then you would fill in the bubbles for "1st Choice" and "2nd Choice" but you may leave "3rd Choice" blank.

What are the greatest challenges facing Maine right now?

The greatest challenge currently facing Maine and America is the coronavirus pandemic. Medical research is essential to meeting this public health crisis. Since 2016, Congress has increased funding for the National Institutes of Health by $9 billion. In 2018, 13 medical research institutions in Maine received 160 NIH grants totaling nearly $100 million to expand the frontiers of science. In direct response to the coronavirus, Congress passed an $8.3 billion emergency funding package focused on vaccine development and the immediate needs of public health agencies. Another $105 billion package provided free testing, increased unemployment and food assistance, expanded paid sick leave, and assisted states as they respond to the public health crisis. And, the CARES Act provided a $2 trillion bipartisan agreement that has helped to protect the health of our people and strengthen our economy.

If elected, what are your top three priorities?

A top priority is restoring the spirit of cooperation and compromise that is the foundation of our system of government. The partisan bickering that is rampant today prevents progress on issues that matter to our citizens. We must continue to respond to the coronavirus pandemic that threatens both public health and our economy. I am confident that we will defeat this pandemic and am determined to continue the sense of unity and purpose we have demonstrated during the pandemic to address other issues before us. In addition, I will continue to work for good-paying jobs and a healthy economy, to promote transparency and improve the affordability and quality of health care, and I will continue to advocate for robust investment in biomedical research. This has the promise to improve people’s health and quality of life, including better therapies and an eventual cure for people living with devastating diseases such as diabetes and Alzheimer’s disease.

What are the greatest challenges facing Maine right now?

Sara is proud of the way Mainers have stepped up to the plate to address the challenges posed by the coronavirus, but there is no question that this crisis has presented Maine with a number of serious challenges. Maine children have been learning remotely for months at the end of this school year, hospitals are stretched thin to the breaking point from responding to the coronavirus, local businesses are suffering from months-long closures, and workers and families are struggling to stay safe, pay their bills, and make ends meet. And throughout this crisis, two things have been clear: that Maine people are resilient and caring, and that it's time for new leadership in Washington. Mainers look out for one another, and it's past time someone was looking out for them in Washington.

U.S. Senate | SARA GIDEON

If elected, what are your top three priorities?

Special interests have too much say in Washington; that's why Sara Gideon released a reform agenda to crack down on influence over elected officials. In the Senate, Sara will fight for meaningful campaign finance reform. Sara will prioritize healthcare in the Senate just as she has in the State House, fighting to ensure people with pre-existing conditions, seniors, women and children have access to affordable healthcare and addressing the rising cost of prescription drugs. Sara will be a powerful pro-choice voice, especially in this time of threats to Roe v. Wade. Sara led on climate change issues in the State House, passing some of the most aggressive goals in the nation to reduce carbon emissions and increase renewable energy production. In the Senate, she will lead the fight on climate change, knowing that this is an economic opportunity for Maine. In the U.S. Senate, Sara will always prioritize Mainers over the special interests that have too much power in Washington.

The greatest challenges that the families in our State are facing right now are the economic crisis from the COVID pandemic and environmental crisis from those who wish to force the CMP Corridor on our rural families. In both cases the blue collar and rural families of Maine have been ignored by those in the political class.

If elected, what are your top three priorities?

- 1) Solve the Immigration Crisis with a Five Year Moratorium on All Immigration.
- 2) Saving the Environment from Corporate Greed.
- 3) Making sure Maine families and small businesses receive proper pandemic direct cash relief.

What are the greatest challenges facing Maine right now?

Nearly 1 in 4 workers in Maine lost their job when the pandemic hit, and many lost their health insurance at that time, too. We need to make sure these people have the resources they need to get through this crisis including an emergency universal basic income and a suspension of rent, mortgage payments, evictions, foreclosures, and utility shutoffs. We need to make sure that Mainers have access to quality healthcare by implementing Medicare-for-All. In addition to the pandemic, Maine is experiencing the worst year on record for overdose deaths. People need access to affordable treatment and mental health services. We need to address the climate crisis. Global heating threatens the survival of life on Earth. The Gulf of Maine is warming faster than any other body of water in the world’s oceans, and this has adversely affected our fisheries. We need a Green New Deal to tackle the climate crisis and move our money from the war machine into creating millions of good, green, union jobs.

U.S. Senate | LISA SAVAGE

If elected, what are your top three priorities?

Medicare-for-All: The U.S. is the only major country that doesn't guarantee healthcare as a right. We have prioritized profits over people. I am making this a priority because it will make a huge impact in people's lives, boost our economy, and because healthcare is a human right. Demilitarized Green New Deal: The climate crisis is a threat to life on Earth. Responding to this crisis is a moral imperative. The human costs of failing to meet this challenge will be massive. The Demilitarized Green New Deal addresses these challenges while creating millions of good union jobs. Ending Endless Wars: The military budget drains 60% of our hard-earned tax dollars into the wasteful Pentagon budget. I will work to redirect this spending to meet the needs of everyday people for a Green New Deal, Medicare for All, education, care for our military veterans, and more. A budget is a moral document and we need to address the needs in our country instead of sending our people to die in endless wars.

What are the greatest challenges facing Maine right now?

The biggest challenges facing Maine right now are:

- 1) A government that is unresponsive to the needs of the people.
- 2) A tax environment that is harmful to young families and to the economy.
- 3) Excessive regulations that make it more difficult for individuals and small businesses.

If elected, what are your top three priorities?

- 1) Restoring sound fiscal policy. We can't continue piling debt onto our children and our grandchildren. We need to start living within a budget.
- 2) Drain the swamp. Washington has created a culture that is not responsive to the people they have been elected to represent. One of the first steps is to remove the incentives for people to become career politicians by halting the pension programs. Another step is instituting term limits for members of Congress.
- 3) Preserve liberties. Our liberties have been under assault, specifically freedoms of speech and religion, through the cancel culture and suppression of conservative voices on social media platforms. I will fight to preserve those liberties.

What are the greatest challenges facing Maine right now?

The most immediate challenge facing Maine right now is the coronavirus pandemic, which is a massive public health threat that is wreaking havoc on our economy. I’m disappointed in the complete lack of the leadership out of the Trump administration to take any meaningful action to help Americans who are suffering. The US House has taken bold action multiple times to rush relief to the American people, work to defeat the pandemic and get our economy back on track, but leaders in the Senate and the White House continue to stall, spread misinformation and ignore the threat. The other major challenge facing us is the threat of man-made climate change. We’re already seeing the catastrophic effects of the crisis here in Maine. We rely on our state’s natural resources for food, fishing, recreation, tourism, and so much more, and our economy and way of life is under threat if we don’t take action to become carbon neutral, transition to a green economy and reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

U.S. House District 1 | CHELLIE PINGREE

If elected, what are your top three priorities?

Healthcare: I believe affordable high-quality health care is a human right, not a privilege for the wealthy. The pandemic has made clear the need for affordable health care for all Americans. As millions have become sick or lost their jobs, many have lost insurance when they need care the most. This system we use to deliver health care in America is broken, and it's long past time for that to change.

Economy: We need an economy that works for all, especially during an economic downturn disproportionately affecting low income people and people of color the most. We must have policies that support working families and an economy that ensures workers a living wage.

Food & farming: As an organic farmer, I know how important food, farming and agriculture are to Maine's economy and way of life. I serve on the subcommittee that oversees funding for agriculture and food programs, and I've supported bills that address food insecurity, food waste, local food production, and much more.

1) As your Congressman, I will fight for lower costs, increased access and higher quality of care. As a businessman of over 40 years, I believe in a free market, competitive healthcare system. 2) Our nation is strong when our economy is strong. We must rebuild our economy through lowering taxes, creating fair trade, removing our dependency on China and investing in our infrastructure. 3) When I woke up paralyzed 37 years ago, I would never have imagined I would be here today running for Congress. Through hard work, I started multiple businesses, employing hundreds, served in the State legislature and raised 6 children. I credit this to living in the greatest country, and we must renew the American Dream.

- 2) Rebuild the greatest economy in history and get Americans back to work, remove dependency on China and invest in our infrastructure.
